So much snow fell, Sunday that it was necessary to break roads.

Winifred Bryant returned to Bryant Pond, Sunday, and will go to school one-half day each day, so to take her examinations. Her health is not good, the effect of the grip cold.

Your correspondent would like to correct an error in last week's Advertiser in the article concerning the death of Charles Miller Bryant of Sunk Centre.

The article states he was one of nine children and that one half-sister survives in Abington, Mass. Evidently the writer did not know that Elizabeth died about ten years ago. I am not certain about the exact time. She died in New Canaan, Conn., where she had lived for several years.

George N. Yeaton, died a short time before she did. There were eleven children in the family, nine own brothers and sisters and two half sisters, Elizabeth and Florence, whom many old-timers remember.

There was a maternity nurse for a number of years. She married George Noonan of Care Porcupine in 1914. died about two years later.

The niece and nephew living in Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris are Newton Bryant, Greenwood, Horatio and William Bryant, Mrs. Sara Knights, G. W. Perham and Mrs. Annie Davis.

Woodstock, R. L. Cummings, West Paris, Nellie Merrill, Norway, Geneva Swan, also Chris Bryant, Locke Mills and one or two nephews in Massachusetts. His wife, Mrs. Nellie Cullen, in a letter written Dec. 1, says he was a most patient and considerate patient, never complaining. He had made plan to come to Maine to the G. A. R. reunion last fall at Portland. He has not been brought to Greenwood for burial. There has been several different statements made relative to Mr. Bryant's death, but this is very nearly correct.

THE NEW OAKLAND 8

$1045 AND UP

General Motors' Lowest-Priced Eight . . . the Car with Superior Performance

Today a new eight-cylinder motor car makes its appearance. It is the newest General Motors eight and by several hundreds of dollars the lowest in price. It is the New Oakland Eight with smart new bodies by Fisher.

Superior Performance
The New Oakland Eight develops 85 horsepower and is the first stock car of its size and weight to employ an engine of such high power. Since performance depends largely on the ratio between horsepower and weight, the New Oakland Eight is exceptionally fast and powerful because it produces one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight.

Eight-Cylinder Smoothness
The New Oakland Eight has all the smoothness which results from the overlapping power impulses inherent in eight-cylinder engine design. In addition, it enjoys exclusive mechanical advantages which make it even smoother and more delightful to drive.

Sound Basic Design
Several of the engineers who participated in creating General Motors' first eight back in 1914 were responsible for the development of the New Oakland Eight. To this latest task they brought a wide knowledge of eight-cylinder design. It is reasonable to expect that the Oakland is a finer eight because of this fact.

Moderate Price
We believe the New Oakland Eight will appeal to you all the more forcibly when you consider its very moderate price. And a demonstration will reveal how well it merits the description "the car with superior performance."

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

NEW SERIES PONTIAC BIG 6

$745 AND UP

A Famous Name—A Finer Car . . . Introducing Important Improvements

The announcement of the first Pontiac in 1926 brought to the low-price field a new order of beauty, performance and reliability. And each Pontiac announcement since that time has introduced a car which represented an improvement even over its own highly regarded predecessors.

Important Improvements
Now comes the New Series Pontiac Big Six—an even finer car with a famous name. It retains all the qualities responsible for Pontiac's success in the past. And in addition it introduces many improvements.

New bodies by Fisher make this latest Pontiac Big Six more beautiful than ever.

Greater Smoothness and Safety
The smoothness of Pontiac's 60-horsepower engine is further increased by the use of improved type rubber engine mountings. Pontiac's large non-squeak four-wheel brakes have been made even more efficient. A new sloping non-glare windshield also adds to its safety. Handling ease is increased through the use of a new type of steering mechanism. Improved Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers give increased riding comfort.

Time-Tried Performance
In speed, power and pick-up the New Series Pontiac Big Six continues to uphold the Pontiac reputation for spirited performance. Come now to our showroom and inspect this finer car with a famous name—the New Series Pontiac Big Six.

The New Series Pontiac Big Six, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Notes From a Trip Abroad

Mrs. A. J. Dyer Visits in England and France

Mrs. Alfred J. Dyer recently returned from a trip to England and France, where she visited for some weeks. The following interesting notes were made:

Left Boston on October 6 with a most delightful voyage, landed in Liverpool, Oct. 14. The first thing I saw was England's Prigible 104 sailing overhead.

Stayed in England visiting London and several seaside. Then left Folkestone for Boulogne. Had a rough crossing, stayed on deck as it did not seem so rocky as Boulogne. Stayed in Paris five days, then started to the southwest coast of France, visiting different parts for two and one-half weeks. Came back to Paris to get ready for my trip through the battlefields.

We left Paris in the morning at 9:30 and arrived in Verdun at seven at night. The way we visited Belgium. The town has been rebuilt, but repairs are still being made on the cathedral. Went along the Argonne Front and Champagne districts. Put up in Verdun at one of the hotels. Next morning took my camera and started. I saw some wonderful monuments in the town. In the valley outside of Verdun there is a fort, which was commanded by Commander Keyrol. He and his men were besieged in June 1916. Outside were three lonely graves of soldiers who devoted themselves in carrying water and were shot down. Soldiers took them through it was very interesting. Next we came to the Trench of the Bayonet, right over the trench is a wonderful monument, offered by American friends. Another monument is at Verdun, erected by the State of Pennsylvania.

I saw the Ossuaries of Deaumont, which is nearly finished, an eternal light is going to burn. Visited the buildings, which is temporary with its hundreds of coffins. It was very sad. At Montfaucon, saw the dial of a church that was used as a shield, all in a decaying state.

In Manheulles saw the monument of the 4th American division. Traveled on to Chateau Thierry, began to realize that I was treading where our Norway boys had been. Not many kilometers from Chateau Thierry is a hill extending Belleau Wood. It is now bought by Americans. Went into Belleau Wood. It was so quiet and peaceful that I could hardly believe that was the place our boys had been there fighting. Remnants of barbed wire, shells, shell holes, which are filling up and I had the luck of taking a snapshot of a German gun. It all looked very desolate. Took a snapshot of a German grave there.

Followed the road to the Y. D. Memorial church that has just been erected by the Yankee Division. Then followed on through an avenue of trees to the cemetery and saw the graves of our American boys. How peaceful it looked and well cared for. There are two caretakers, who have lodges at the entrance of the cemetery and I understand that they are Americans and take care of the cemetery. I forgot to mention that Quentin Roosevelt's grave is in Chateau Thierry. Visited Le Chemin de fer and saw villages upon villages, rebuilt, but desolation around, stumps, the ground was a gray color and the earth uneven from shelling.

Visited the Crown Prince's dogout. It is still well kept, as it was well maintained and well protected in the woods. Most of the dogouts are in decay and orders not to venture in. Visited the monument of the Escadillon Lafayette, where the bodies of Americans, who died in defense of right and liberty before America entered the war.

On the way home ran across some German tanks, two were in the ditch, rotting. Naturally I took a snapshot of them. After three days got back in Paris and began visiting, as I had not been in Paris for thirty-one years until this trip. Visited the cathedrals and I was especially lucky in visiting Notre Dame and seeing the treasure room. Visited the Luxembourg Palace, Palace of Justice, where Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette were beheaded. Museum of the Louvre with its wonderful paintings and statues, Museum of Cluny. Went to the top of the Arc de Triomphe, had a wonderful view of the Champs Elysees. The Unknown Soldier's grave is under the Arc and is covered with flowers all the time.

Palace of the Tuileries with its wonderful gardens, the Opera House and attended the auto show at the Grand Palais of Exhibition, the Pantheon, where are buried all the famous men with honors. Also visited the church which was bombarded on a Good Friday, killing 200 women and children. The pillars of the church show where the shrapnel struck and tore holes in the paintings.

Visited the Palace of Versailles, where the glass gallery 245 feet in length, 35 feet wide, where was founded the German empire on the 18th of January, 1871. The Allies proclaim this fall by the signature of the Peace Treaty on the 28th of June, 1919.

Saw the bedroom of Louis XIV and the suite of rooms of Napoleon and Josephine. The large gallery where all the large paintings of all the battles of France was engaged in up to the last war. The wonderful paintings and the fountains in the grounds. Palace of the Grand Trianon and the Palace of the Little Trianon and the Temple of Love. Hamlet of Marie Antoinette, The Mill, Milk House and Marlborough Tower. Finished the trip by seeing the coronation coach of Charles X and Napoleon's coach.

Went past George Clemenceau's house when we were on our way to the Eiffel Tower, went to the tip-top of it changed elevators three times and finally going by stairs to the tip top. It is the highest steel structure in the world and it amply repaid one for going up. Saw several wonderful shows, finally I went from Calais to Dover. The crossing was fierce as it was during those frightful storms. I envied the aeroplane, which passed with the ocean. England was visited with the worst storms in fifty years with floods in the south and Thames valley.

Saw Dr. Sikkenga and his wife, had a most delightful visit. They took me to visit their boy, who is in a private school. The doctor and his wife wish to be remembered to everyone in Norway. Visited Chelsea, the old part of London; it was unchanged; visited my old college and saw four of my college masters. We had so much to talk about that the day was gone before I realized it. I was fortunate to be able to attend a Red Cross sale and visit the Bureau of Health. The Duchess of Norfolk and her daughters were selling dainty articles. His Grace, the Duke of Norfolk, was also present and the presents that were presented to him on his 21st birthday were on display. The castle was thrown open to the public on admission of 21 for the Red Cross, so a large sum of money was realized.

After staying two weeks in England, set sail from Liverpool, Dec. 14, with rather a rough crossing. But enjoying every minute of it. Landed the 22nd in New York. Norway looked very good to me with its hills and mountains and cherry faces. It is just as Doctor Sikkenga says, it is "home".

Elmer D. Packard is attending the shoe style show in Boston this week. Mrs. Norman Hinton is in Portland spending a few days with friends.

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

Margaret Crooker has brought in some keys, which she found Saturday by the Army.

The Houlton Times has been "enlarged" to seven columns to the page. Bro. Fogg knows how!

Don S. Smith of Hartford, Conn., has changed the address of his paper to 1255 10th Ave. South, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Business here is flat, little of it in sight. People eat sparingly, wear old things; but they do go to the movies.

Geo. B. Turner of Woodford says: "I took the picture as being one that was being built at Hiram, Me." George, with others was in error.

Robert Smith found a watch bracelet in front of H. F. Andrews' stable, Tuesday and it is here to add to our collection of found articles.

Winford F. Brown of Hebron, Route 1, hobbled into the office Monday with a batch of interesting news from his pen. He is on crutches as a result of putting an ax into his knee and dividing the knee pan. This accident occurred during his busiest time, with woodmen to look after and other duties necessary in getting the stuff out. Mr. Brown gets about on the "sticks" and just won't give up.

Fred L. Edwards of Bethel called Tuesday. He attended a director's meeting at the Norway National Bank and saw on his way home from Portland, where he passed the week and with Mr. Edwards, who is spending the winter in the city. Mr. Edwards had a long wait for the evening train, so dropped in on the society gathering at the Norway Club and called on some of his acquaintances in stores and offices.

Just a line from Roger Hutchins in California, written abroad the steamer, Yale, informs us he will spend a month in Los Angeles and vicinity. The message was transcribed on a pictorial menu with checkmarks opposite nine articles of diet that comprised his lunch. Only three of those dishes are familiar names, and we fear Roger is traveling far from home. He is eating a goodly amount of pudding class of his youth.

Mrs. Jason P. Little of Otisfield, Harlow, Route 2, enjoys the puzzle page and is pleased with the first prize awarded to her recently. We quote from her card: "Please accept my thanks for the award of first prize in last week's Advertiser. It came nearly on my birthday, so feel it a birthday gift."

"Hope to try many more puzzle pages as they are very interesting."

Henry D. Nellig, who is employed on Bridgeport Post at Bridgeport, Ct., writes us from Silver Mine Falls, Norwalk, Ct., and says:

"I am in the position so that I can talk now at least half hour a day, and my audience, if bored or uninterested can shut me up at a turn of the knob! We have established a special block-up of South Norwalk, W.C.C. of Bridgeport and I broadcast news from our editorial rooms at 5:15 A. M. and 1:15 P. M. every day except Sunday."

The first issue of the "Picture Bill" DeCoteau arrived Wednesday at the desk of the Sports Editor. Said features are displayed in a newspaper group appointed to supervise the first Sunday movies in the history of Somerville, Mass.

"Picture Bill" otherwise William E. DeCoteau, is manager of Broadway Theatre in that city and naturally interested in the project of one extra day's income for his large picture house. We take a shot that the versatile manager had a lot to do about getting the Sunday movies.

One interested in our success writes: "It is not a suitable time to do come out touring in this attitude; that of nature should be completed not later than November 1st; but it appears to be the custom to be 'little mite behind' in many ways."

"I know of some who do haying in September that should have been done in July, leave tools and implements outdoors all winter, dig firewood out of the snow and ice, and build chimneys in January. I hope you do not do that way. I had had a notion you didn't."

"There is a time and place for everything. Fit into it!"

F. W. Sanborn: "I know nothing about Fish and Game Rules or Regulations or licenses. I got a hunting and fishing license and paid the price, $1.20. That is all I know about it."

Commissioner Stobie says: "It has been ruled by the Attorney General's office that the resident hunting license is annual, which means that it is not valid after Dec. 31 of the year in which it was issued; that the resident combination license, which is a combination of both fishing and hunting licenses, is annual, but that the resident fishing license, if taken out separately, is not annual. All non-resident licenses are annual."

"I also want plainly to state that this department does not any longer recognize the old 25 cent registration certificate."

The following clipped from a Cape Cod paper was handed to us for the readers' consideration. We can't vouch for the truth of the matter.

A bank in New Jersey ran this advertisement in a local paper: "Wanted—a clerk. Must be experienced in foreign exchange. Salary $15 a week."

This is one of the replies received: "Dear Bank—I would respectfully apply for the position you offer. I am an expert in foreign exchange in all branches. In addition, I converse fluently in Gann Arbale, Zola, Gargonzola and Billingsgate. I write short-hand, long-hand, left-hand and right-hand. I can supply my own typewriter if necessary, and I may mention that I typewrite half an hour in ten minutes, the record."

"I would be willing also to let you have the service, gratis, of my large family of boys, and if agreeable to you, my husband would be pleased to clean your office regularly without extra charge. The cost of postage for your answer to this application can be deducted from my salary."

"Please note that if you have a backyard, I would make bricks in my spare time."

Spacious Acres

Farm Home of John Laforte

By Frederick Marshall Davis

"To get a kick out of a cow—is to feed-um," is what John Laforte, formerly of Norway, told me at his farm, one day a few weeks ago as he raised his hand and came down with a slap that landed fair on the side of one of his prize herd.

"Guess you are right, John," I said, "I looked along the long line in the linter of his barn at Wales, Maine, the place where he now lives. The place just mentioned is located on a high elevation in the town of Wales and affords a look-out that is interesting and pleasing to the eye. John, like most successful farmers, believes in taking advantage and opens his ground in the fall, preparatory to going on with his spring career."

"This is a sulky plow," he said, as he climbed aboard and started his rugged team of horses while I followed along the furrow with a heavy iron bar, only to loosen and lift out any stone that might have tendency to hinder the progress of the machine on its return trip. He acknowledged the fact when I told him that his spacious fields would make a set of golf links second to none in this part of the country.

Although having been on the place less than two years, John has equipped the place with every convenience. A line of mysterious fluid—as Edison calls it—gives a bright, steady light, and does much of the work at the house and barn and the water system is one that is rare and unusual.

Although on high elevation and in spite of the prevailing drought, the water is pulled 450 feet to the buildings by a Fairbanks-Morse pump from a dug well forty-five feet deep that contains at all times 43 feet of water. The specimen of police dog watches daily over the prize herd of Guernsey stock, the dog does not carry a crook, but he is still a good shepherd.

As a steady income, John sells whole milk which goes to Lewiston three times each week and is considered one of the best grades and goes to a large number of the best homes in the city.

A stroll through the buildings, in one sense, is a pleasure and the kind and gentle ways that John practices among his animals—house and barn alike, is very noticeable. At milking time, his good wife assists and with a smile on her face, she sits on a stool and drums on the pail with splashing streams to her own satisfaction while his house pets, canine and feline alike, peep the linter or wait with interest to get that bit of milk that is generally dealt out at each milking hour.

I believe that kindness to animals is an important factor and domesticated as they are into a calm, satisfied state, goes a long way toward getting the best of results.

It is easy to guess that John and his wife, who have many friends in Norway, the former having taken charge of the stitching room at the shoe factory for a term of years.

Mrs. Laforte, formerly Mrs. Goodspeed of Norway, although perhaps little known, in early life traveled quite extensively, having made footprints in many foreign lands. Some of the points of interest visited include the Pyramids of Egypt, Japan, Italy, France, England, Venice, Florence, Nice, Monte Carlo, St. Peter's at Rome. Although having traveled in many climes, she likes Maine and enjoys farm life and chooses this beyond all others as a means. Although perhaps young in the agricultural business, John's ability is really mystifying, he comes to take to it like a fish takes to water and he has already made long strides along the road to success.

Many visitors search out and call at this given spot to admire its charms and wonderful location. John has made many friends among the neighboring people in this locality, by maintaining at all times as he does, that pleasant, genial disposition that buries itself deep in the hearts of men. He loves his home and enjoys the open and the freedom of farm life and not being forced to answer the call of a bell or whistle. On leaving, he reached for my hand that morning as I sat in the heavily loaded car of farm products from his bumper crop that he had made so pleasant.

Is John's own words that he has an electric water system, an electric furnace, and his cream separator, washing machine and grindstones are run by the same power, but we made a strong agreement that if the time should come when an electric chair was installed, I should stay far away from this domain in spite of its pleasant surroundings known as Spacious Acres.

A public whist party was held at the I. O. O. F. hall at No. 4, Friday evening, Jan. 17th. There were eleven tables at play, first prizes were won by Stanford and Rachel Kimball, consolation prizes going to Edna and Richard Ring. At ten o'clock a lunch of sandwiches, salad, doughnuts and coffee was served to about sixty by the committee, Mrs. Herbert McKen, Pearl McAllister and Ina Stearns. A social dance followed which was enjoyed by all until a late hour.

Roger Eastman and family were guests at her mother's at North Brighton, Sunday.

CENTER LOVELL

Was it noticed how those cute Pennsylvania politicians finally won over the combination against them in the United States Senate? After three years waiting over Vane, he was bounced for expending about three-fourths of a million dollars to be elected, but strange to relate, no single instance of having any votes or corruption was found against him. The Governor of the state appointed Joe Grundy, the arch apostle of protection, to fill the vacancy. Grundy had called some of the combination names. They had no right to shut him out for that reason and he was admitted though the pill went down hard. Grundy in the Senate is not even a pure enemy to the state and the people. Vane was state and the people. Vane would have counted only one vote in that body now dominated by the "wild asses of the prairie," while Grundy is a power and he will undoubtedly be a great asset in their nostrils, whereas we laugh.

We are curious to see who converts the honor of being ingloriously swamped in the primaries next June by Gov. Wm. Tudor Gardiner.

Winnifred Dunham observed her birthday, Jan. 4, by inviting several friends to her home, where games were enjoyed the first of the afternoon. Then upon invitation the party adjourned to the home of Mrs. Winnie Hall, Miss Dunham's aunt, where they found the dining room prettily decorated with one and white crepe paper. A birthday cake with lighted candles was the center of attraction and ice cream and fancy crackers were served. Those present were Lila and Adeline Emerson, Elizabeth Ariel Bertha Taylor, Margaret Hill, Esther and Winnifred Dunham.

OVERFLOWING PRISON CELLS
"To those who are puzzled to account for the crowded condition of penal institutions is made plain that the chief factor in filling cells to overflowing is the more or less modern legislative habit of creating new classes of criminals. What society was once content to consider as evils only have been promoted to higher rank with the result of enormously increasing the prison population.

For example, the inmates sent to the Federal institution for violation of the narcotic laws numbered 2,721 on June 30, by far the largest list of offenders. Mr. Volstead's act providing for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment was responsible for 1,827 convicts. Offenders against postal laws come next with 1,068. The celebrated Mann Act to suppress "white slavery" contributed 241. Violation of immigration restrictions produced 230. Bankers and bankrupts account for 108 and 43, respectively. Only ninety-four murderers are imprisoned. For all miscellaneous "crimes" outside of those named, there were but 1,064 under duress."

 School turned a trick on New Gloucester in the local gymnasium, Friday night, by defeating the visitors 48 to 17. Smith, Dunn and Perkins of Oxford tossed floor baskets at will, while Piper, right forward for New Gloucester, was the only successful big shooter in his outfit.

Both teams unworked rapid passing and goal defensive tactics with "Bill" Ledger's Oxford's shining marks in every department. Clean playing was the rule with penalties at a minimum.

In the curtain raiser Oxford girls defeated the New Gloucester girls 31-23.

December Temperature

John Wright, the weather observer, offers a summary of morning temperatures during December for the past five years.

Observations were taken at 6 a. m., on Pine Street, South Paris.

We are indebted to his wife for the record during the month just past, as John was seriously ill much of the time.

Mrs. Wright is the busy role of nurse, housekeeper and dispenser of medicine, never skipping a morning in the exacting job of remembering to peek at the thermometer.

According to the record, December was frosty, with two snow periods. One from the 18th to the 21st and one other from the 25th to the 31st, kept the mercury on fairly even level. Otherwise, the rises and drops were abrupt, the highest at 30 and lowest 12 below zero.

A banquet was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Paris, last Saturday at 6 p. m. in appreciation of faithfulness of the chorus choir of the United Paris church. The supper consisted of scallops, salads, baked beans, brown and white bread, cakes and confection. The long table set in the dining room looked very pretty and appetizing and a jolly company did justice to the supper. Pastor Smith, who was included in the company, passed a plate of candy suet, which added to the merriment. While the tables were being cleared, the choir rehearsed their Sunday selections, then all assembled in the living room and a program of musical compositions was presented by various ones present. Mr. Smith gave a very interesting historical sketch of Handel, which was very appropriate with the Handel's resting place among the other English notables in Westminster Abbey. A story entitled "The Pesky Choir," which was very appropriate with a delightful ending, was read by one present, then a guessing contest game was put on by the hostess, the answers to which were the titles of songs. The place cards for the supper were the names of choir members, whose last initial must be the same as the last initial of the various names and a title of a song that each must sing or whistle some part of it on leaving the table. A few old songs sung closed the very enjoyable evening. There were about twenty present.
